- This is a good time to refresh this list
- Want to ensure member agencies have a chance to provide input on key issues – important to maximize attendance
- Structure last updated 3 years ago based on population

Approach for Updating Membership

- Address vacancies by reaching out to agencies
- Review meeting attendance records to identify opportunities to recruit members able to regularly attend
- Assess non-voting membership structure and recruiting for opportunities to improve
- Local agencies able to swap out members/alternates if that is their preference

- ❑ Includes community, environmental, educational or similar organizations, or system users
- ❑ Important because they provide a unique and/or underrepresented perspective on bicycle and pedestrian issues
- ❑ Do not vote or participate in discussions on action items

Non-Voting Membership Issues/Challenges

- ❑ Operating procedures indicate four is the maximum number of non-voting members
- ❑ Current recruitment process is overly cumbersome and inefficient
- ❑ Overall attendance has been erratic

Next Steps

- PSRC will re-assess the non-voting member structure and recruitment process and return to BPAC in March with a proposal
- PSRC will reach out to agencies to discuss recruiting additional/new members based on vacancies and attendance
- If agencies want to make changes to their membership, please reach out to PSRC to discuss

The background image is an aerial photograph of a coastal city, likely Bremerton, Washington. It shows a large industrial area with several large ships in a marina and dry docks, surrounded by a mix of modern and older buildings. A long bridge spans a deep blue waterway. The city is nestled at the base of a range of green, forested mountains under a clear blue sky.
